

Apple Bites: Lessons from Teachers

More for your money

I use the coupons/advertisements in the Sunday newspaper to teach my seventh and eighth grade Special Education students how to budget their money. I tell them they have a certain dollar amount for a birthday gift and they have to get the best "bang for their buck." I also identify for whom the gift is intended (mom/dad/nephew/cousin), the gender, and the age. I also use the supermarket ads and have the class plan a dinner within a particular dollar amount. They love planning Thanksgiving or other holiday dinners.

Educators, did you know that you can earn $25 by sharing one of the good newspaper-related activities that you've developed and used with your students?

Just submit your activity to Apple Bites, a monthly feature of Hot Apple PIE. If Hot Apple PIE selects your activity for publication, you'll receive $25 and a byline. Your activity will be seen and perhaps used by thousands of other educators who value the newspaper as an important and interesting educational resource. Hot Apple PIE is a monthly subscriber publication that serves hundreds of newspapers around the world. Send in your idea today. Be sure to include your name and address, phone number and e-mail address as well as school name and grade or subject taught.
